

A sensitive side

A long time ago, when there were no telephones or smartphones, people used to write lots of letters to each other. Letters were often very practical, for example telling the people in a town to put their rubbish bags in the street. Some letters travelled thousands of kilometres to reach their destination. Others were handed over in person. But the nicest letter to receive is without doubt a love letter.

Look at the man in the painting. He is busy writing a love letter. Can you help him by completing the text on the back?

Dearest .....

With this letter I want to say that

.....

When we met .... years ago in .....
I knew, I loved you.

You have the most beautiful ..... in the whole world. And you are very .....

My favourite thing to do is to go on a trip with you to ..... and to spoil you by preparing your favourite meal of
..... Or watch your favourite film
..... together. When I grow up, we will live in ..... together with our pet .....

Those are my dreams. And I want only you by my side to make them come true.

I just want to say one last thing, .....

..... Kiss, .....
